

Another baby?

What level of parenting do my kids need? How will another affect our ability to meet the current parenting needs?

Are you mentally and physically ready for another? Your other half? How is everyone's health in the family?

Consider financial situation

One on one time (date your kid):

Alone time:

Time with your other half:

If either of you passed away, could the other handle that many kids? Could someone take your kids if you both passed away?

Are you having one to keep up with the Jones'?

Are you having another to have a specific gender?

Do you want another baby or another child to raise?
